REIGN OF TERROR.

Middlesboro Militia in the Mountains After a Lawless Gang.

Middlesboro, Ky., Nov. 6.—A reign of terror in this vicinity threatens to rival in violence the bloody feuds of Breathitt county. The Middlesboro militia company spent Sunday afternoon in the mountains after a lawless gang, said to be headed by Frank Ball, wanted for the murder of John Bolen, a barber. Ball is reported to have with him a crowd of at least 40 men who intend to resist his arrest to the last. Four miles from Middlesboro the soldiers attacked a "bitter tiger" and riddled it with steel bullets, although they succeeded in capturing nine of the men. Returning to town a roll call of the company showed the absence of three men whose whereabouts are not known. Sunday night the town was comparatively quiet, but all telegraph wires have been cut. Gov. Beckham has been asked to send more soldiers and another company is expected, as the local militia men are worn out by constant duty for the past three days. The Middlesboro company is in charge of Capt. George W. Albrecht, a leading citizen, who up to September last was editor of the Middlesboro News. Sweeney was preserved by both citizens and soldiers and it is reported that a telegraph operator has been warned not to send out news of the disturbances to any newspapers.

Middleton and Sweeney have always been the best of friends, and he was a guest at the home of the postmaster. He got up early to go into the yard and was returning to his room when Sweeney, suddenly awakened from his sleep, opened fire on his guest and killed him. Sweeney is inconsolable with grief. Middleton was a single man and about 40 years old.

The screams of the child attracted the attention of the mother, who was in an adjoining room. When she reached her babe's side she found he child almost lifeless. THE BALL BROTHERS.

No Immediate Developments in Their Case Expected.

Middlesboro, Ky., Nov. 7.—The city and surrounding territory were quiet Monday night and no immediate developments in the case of the Ball brothers are expected. Yesterday's Courier Journal contained this paragraph: "One result of Tuesday's elections over which all honest Kentuckians, of whatever politics, can rejoice, is the defeat of Jim Hargis and his gang in Breathitt. Not only that county, but the entire State, is to be congratulated on the expulsion of the crew from the offices which they have so unscrupulously perverted to their own desperate and depraved ends."

The election has come and gone, and while the straight Republican ticket has won by something over 300 majority, yet there is no room for discouragement on the part of those who led the Independent forces. The Independents have made a noble fight and have won a noble victory, instead of losing, in the fact that the Republican majority of the county was cut more than half in two.

The Slate Ridge correspondent of the London Local puts it this way: "Well, they have sent Bro. Stump back to preach for us another year. Now, we are not going to believe that all the people have given up and intend to rush right on and jump square into hell, but there surely is something wrong. Just stop and think for a moment. A preacher can't have any success unless some one goes to hear him preach. Now we have a good man and one that will do his part if we will do ours. Let us quit the skip to my-Lillie meetings and go to hear a good man preach and one that can learn us something in regard to religion. We are all preached to death by jocklegs and cranks. In the October number of the Christian Safeguard is a strong article written by Ruskin on "The power of money." The article leads up to the question of how many of our present money-getters who betray Christ by robbing the great trusts they hold will have the grace to hang themselves.

KING SOLOMON'S MINES.

If the conclusions as to the origin and history of the mysterious ruins in Rhodesia put before the British Association at Bulawayo by Mr. Ranpal MacIver are correct, they are not relics of ancient Ophir, and we must seek elsewhere for the regions whence King Solomon procured his stores of gold and precious stones. Mr. MacIver went to Rhodesia last April, under the auspices of the association and the Rhodes trustees, and examined minutely the ruins of Inyanga, Nickerke's farm (16 miles north of Inyanga) Khami, Dhlho Dhlho, Uuatah, Ins'zi and Zimbabwa. After careful investigation he has decided that none of the ruins in Southern Rhodesia is older than the 15th or 16th century and that they are the handwork of African natives of the negro or negroid race under the dynasty known by the collective name of Monomotapa. The basis of these conclusions were formed on the following data:

The building are essentially of a native kind or type common to day; nearly all retain some original wood stakes imbedded in the walls; there is no trace of inscriptions on any of the ruins; stone and iron implements were found together; neither the buildings nor the other articles found show traces of early Oriental or European influence; finally, the discovery of pieces of blue and white Nankin China and other articles of mediæval manufacture in the lowest parts of the foundations proves that such commodities were the object of barter before the buildings were erected.

Mr. MacIver maintains that the ruins were originally fortified places, usually inclosing a kopje built in the form of a rough ellipse following mainly the contour of the surrounding country. The so-called slave pits, described as pit dwellings, were originally citadels of their strong places round which concentric circles of walls were built.

A special from Versailles yesterday says: "A farmer named Taylor, whose home is in Madison county, passed through here on his way home after a remarkable drive of several thousand miles, which he made alone in his buggy. His journey having consumed two years. He has nine children, who are married and living in the States of Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Texas. When in the summer of 1903 he made up his mind to pay each child a visit he decided that he would prefer to drive through to trusting himself by rail. He completed his long drive without incident having made each child a visit of six or eight weeks enjoyed seeing the country en route and feels younger than when he started on his trip. Mr. Taylor is seventy years old and has great grandchildren."

The election passed off quietly here with the exception of a quantity of "booze." The Brown precinct giving majority of from 16 to 52 in favor of the Independent ticket. The good people of the county regardless of politics, are beginning to wake up and try to elect men who know their duty and are willing to do it. Rockcastle should not want to be classed along with Breathitt and Harlan. Probably we can pull through another four years of Republican rule. You all know what that means by experience. The protracted meeting at Mt. Pleasant closed Sunday last with nine additions. There is now a series of meetings being conducted at Poplar Grove by Elds Cummins and Godbey. We are sorry to report the death of Miss Logston, daughter of James Logston, of Walnut Grove. Her death was caused by complication of diseases. The interment took place Tuesday at Mt. Pleasant. SAYRES.

You have heard of things being over-all but the shouting. Well, the election and shouting are both over. We wish to congratulate the winners and express our deepest sympathy for the defeated candidates. Now, we are not sure we can agree with our Ottawa correspondent about Mrs. Hayes having the "boss" sweet potatoes. William Owens has one weighing four lbs. Can you beat that? Owens and the writer made a flying trip to Level Green Sunday. D. E. Herrin, of Quil, has been in this section buying turkeys. We wish to thank our Quail correspondent for his compliment in last issue. Would to God we could worthily bear the name of "good teacher," but I fear that many of us never stop to think what the word TEACHER means. It is one thing to keep school and another to teach. Teaching is not merely hearing recitations and assigning lessons, but we should draw the pupils out and impart our own personal knowledge in a way that will build them both morally and intellectually and give them a higher ideal of true manhood and womanhood. In a word, we should study our pupil. Learn just how much good and bad there is in each one and then teach them to cultivate the good and overcome the bad. The man or woman who can do this is a "good teacher."

Impoverished Soil

Impoverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemist by analyzing the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different products.

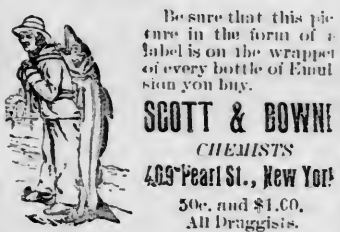

If your blood is impoverished your doctor will tell you what you need to fertilize it and give it the rich, red corpuscles that are lacking in it. It may be you need a tonic, but more likely you need a concentrated fat food, and fat is the element lacking in your system.

There is no fat food that is so easily digested and assimilated as

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil

It will nourish and strengthen the body when milk and cream fail to do it. Scott's Emulsion is always the same; always palatable and always beneficial where the body is wasting from any cause, either in children or adults.

We will send you a sample free.

A farmer who was on his way from Indian Territory to East Bernstadt, Ky., was enticed into an alley opening on Tenth street, between Broadway and Magazine, in Louisville, and relieved of a pocketbook containing $10 and a gold watch.

Supt. G. M. Ballard received the following notice from the Superintendent of Public Instructions: "I regret to inform you that your November draft cannot be sent in time for 10th inst. Money not in Treasury yet. You will receive it in time to pay the teachers 15th of November."

CANDIDATES.—The busy bee now hides his head. In grief and consternation great. "I'll never learn to be," he said, "as busy as a candidate." And all over the land these days, we hear the political yell, reminding us Judge Jewell said: "Politics is hell."

Krueger & Sons will begin Friday giving a ticket with every dollar's worth of goods, which will entitle the holder to one guess on the $75 buggy now on exhibition in front of their place of business. Read their advertisement elsewhere in this issue, where you will find their plan fully explained.

Mr. U. G. Baker received a telegram yesterday morning stating that Frank Mullins, who was serving a five-year term in the pen, for complicity with his brother, Will Mullins, in the killing of Dan Scott, had been paroled and was now on his way home. It has always been the opinion that Frank was unjustly sentenced.

The SIGNAL proposes to issue a grand Christmas edition, in colors, giving brief write ups of the county and its citizens. In this edition we also want to have a few lines concerning Rockcastle citizens, who have gone to other States, where located and their occupation. Those living elsewhere, who read this notice are earnestly requested to write James Maret, Mt. Vernon, Ky., who will have charge of that department, giving the above information. Also parties in this county, who have friends and relatives living elsewhere, will please send us their names and addresses.

Yours very truly,
E. S. ALBRIGHT, Editor.

BURNED TO DEATH.—A small child of Mr. and Mrs. Will Bishop was burned to death near Langford Wednesday. Mr. Bishop and wife had gone from home and left their three children, one six years old, one about three and the baby, about one year old. The children were all locked in the house and had it not been for Mr. J. H. Reynolds, who seeing the flames in the house, and going and knocking the door down, all three of the children would have been consumed in the flames. Mr. Reynolds rescued the two oldest children, thinking that the smallest was with its mother, but soon the parents arrived and found the baby missing. When the flames were extinguished only the head and part of the body, covered in ashes was found, its arms and legs being entirely gone. It was a most awful scene and the heart broken parents have the sympathy of all.

Perhaps all the school patrons do not know that in Kentucky we have a compulsory educational law, though not generally enforced. The law requires that every child between the ages of seven and fourteen years, shall attend school for at least eight consecutive weeks in each year. A penalty of from $5 to $50 for failure to comply with these provisions is imposed upon the parent or guardian. It is the duty of the Board of Trustees to see that the law is enforced. The child may be sent to a private school or taught at home, but it must receive an educational training from some source, if the law is complied with. Where the pupil fails to attend it is the duty of the teacher to make a report to some of the trustees and in turn the duty of the trustees to take the matter up before the county authorities. Under the law no teacher is entitled to his or her money when the attendance is not 25 per cent. or more of the number of pupils in the district. If we are correctly informed there would be several teachers in this county who come up wanting on pay day, if these matters were properly looked into by the chairman of the board of trustees of the various districts, whose duty it is to sign the monthly reports before the salary is paid.

It is a tie vote according to the returns in the Police Judge's race, between B. S. Davault and J. T. Adams, the present incumbent. There were two spoiled ballots, however. We understand that should they be counted, one would go to Adams and the other to Davault. Adams got 18 majority in E. Mt. Vernon and Davault the same in W. Mt. Vernon.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Mayor J. H. Powell, of Henderson, whose thanksgiving proclamations are always couched in language unlike that generally employed, has just prepared his message for the approaching day of thanks, as follows:

"A charming custom which hath become with us a sacred law prompts me to appoint Thursday, Nov. 23, 1905, a day of thanksgiving and prayer in our municipality. Let us praise the Lord in his Holy Temple for the manifold mercies He hath manifested unto our poor and pious people. Thanks be unto the Almighty in as much as he hath spared so many miserable sinners. Be it proclaimed, city criers are not so common as night-starry candles in a cloudless sky. Heaven bless the booming booster and keep us from kicking the nervy knocker. That God no guilty greedy graiter grows on the ground of Greater Henderson. We still live to love bean-fol lobes, sing sweet songs, paint pure pictures and do divine deeds. How becoming to the good man are the jewels of mercy and charity. Never since the first stars shed their stainless twinkles over a sinful world have we been blessed with such a copious crop of clever, capable and confident candidates. Lord have mercy on our office seekers. Strew with sugar plums, sunflowers and forget-me-nots the paths of this big band of patriots who pray and pull with all their power for progress and prosperity. Ineligible by law for a second term, soon will your humble servant shuffle off the Mayor's mantle. This is my last municipal proclamation. Read it in sad silence, by the blazing fireside in your own sweet home. Hunker for the light of old Powell's sunshine, as you see him serenely subside. Editors of newspapers, who have published my official documents and written of me many kind words, will always hold in my poor heart a place loyal and lasting as the love I bear the little children of my native town.

Here's a sigh for those who love me
And a smile for those who hate,
And whatever sky's above me,
Here's a heart for every fate."

Whilst the winds of October are singing a sad song and scattering yellow-tinted leaves around me, as the sun with shining splendor sinks to rest and sends back kisses to the silvery river, I bid you a long, last, fond farewell.

Witness my hand this 29th day of October, 1905.
J. H. Powell,
Mayor of Henderson, Ky.

More than $12,500,000 annually are paid to employees of railroads in Kentucky.

Reports for 1904 on file in the office of the Kentucky State R. R. commission, show that the number of employees that year, exclusive of general officers, was 20,639 and that they were paid in wages $12,546,197.00. This represents an average annual payment to each employee, exclusive of officers, of $67.4. An average daily payment for each working day of $1.94. This average daily payment for all classes of railroad labor is all the more noticeable when compared with the wages paid in foreign countries to the highest classes of railroad labor, viz: Great Britain—Engineers, $1.62, conductors $1.01. Belgium—Engineers, $1.22; conductors, $1.08. United States—Engineers, $4.01; conductors $3.38. The railroads are operated by the government in Belgium.

CONSULS' APPEAL.

It Threatens to Draw This Country Into the Disaffections in Russian Empire.

IT CAUSES GRAVE APPREHENSIONS

The President Has Decided That No Action Can Be Taken by the United States.

Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, Sends a Cablegram To Count Witte on the Situation.

Washington, Nov. 7.—An appeal for aid from American consuls in Russia threatens to draw this country into the question of internal disaffection in Russia. The state department here is viewing with considerable alarm the appeals for protection which have been sent to the American charge d'affaires, at St. Petersburg, Mr. Eddy, from consuls Bornholdt, at Riga, and Geo. R. Martin, at Rostoff-on-Don.

The assurance has reached here through Count Lamsdoff, that the Americans will be protected, but in event of the failure of the Russian government to act, it is probable that the American home government will be called upon.

President Roosevelt has decided that no action can be taken by this government at present which will be of any benefit to the Jews of Russia.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, sent the following cablegram to Count Witte, at St. Petersburg: "While all the world applauds the great achievements of Russia's workmen in the great work of liberty, the hearts of America's workmen were aglow. The cause of liberty and justice should not be smothered by atrocities and crime. If Russia's workmen will as sternly use their united power to repress the vicious massacres of human life they will further earn and deserve the warmest gratitude and lasting sympathy of justice-loving humanitarians the world over. The lives of all men of all creeds and all faiths—Christian and Jew alike—must be secure if true liberty is not only achieved but maintained for all time."

"On behalf not only of the three million organized workmen but also of all the workmen of America, will you kindly convey this message to your countrymen and our brothers of labor?"

THE RIOTING IN ODESSA

Estimated Number of Killed 3,500 and About 12,000 Wounded.

London, Nov. 6.—The Odessa correspondent of the Standard, under date of November 5, sends further sensational accounts of the riots there. He says:

"There have been more horrifying massacres and fiendish cruelties, but the districts where these took place are now cordoned by troops. Probably the total killed will number 3,500, and the wounded 12,000. In the suburb of Moldovanka a thousand victims remained in the streets from midnight until noon, when the authorities hastened to collect and bury the bodies. In great pits in order to conceal their numbers. Two private doctors attended more than 300 children of both sexes who had been horribly gashed about the head and shoulders with sabers."

"Heaping insult on injury, the civil governor to-day, when the butchery had ended, asked the householders to subscribe $100,000 to pay the police increased wages."

Odessa, Nov. 6.—The casualties in Saturday's disturbances exceed 140 and those of the preceding three days, which have been verified, number nearly 5,600. The plundering continued early Sunday morning in the outlying districts, but Sunday the city was relatively calm, though the population is still anxious.

The latest accounts of the devastation in the Jewish quarters add horror to the situation. Besides numerous mills, all the bakeries, shops and nearly 600 homes have been destroyed. The Jews killed in every commonwealth were treated with revolting barbarity. Heads were battered with hammers; nails were driven into the bodies, eyes were gouged out and ears severed. Many bodies were disemboweled and in some cases petroleum was poured over the sick found in cellars and they were burned to death.

London, Nov. 7.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Mail says:

"War, hopeless war, prevails in the Caucasus. The Trans-Caucasian railway, the sole line, is effectually crippled and reinforcements have been compelled to march. Seventeen bridges have been wrecked and the rails have been torn up in 40 places. Telegraph lines have been destroyed and Georgia and Daghestan are isolated. Every male is in arms. The war office is helpless."

Finns Get the Manifesto.

Helsingfors, Finland, Nov. 7.—The imperial manifesto meeting most of the demands of the Finns arrived here. The constitutionalists are satisfied, and the socialists, who threatened to make a demonstration, have thus far been quiet.

Superintendent of Construction.

St. Paul, Nov. 7.—An afternoon paper announces that Walter G. Tubby, of St. Paul, has been appointed superintendent of construction of the Panama canal by John F. Stevens, chief engineer in charge of the work.

FULL MEANING.

To understand the immensity of the Czar's surrender to his people it is necessary to know that even the new Russian Prime Minister, who seemed the unyielding signature to Russia's "Magna Charter," has been a humbler of autocracy, and as recently as his visit to the United States declared his belief that greater and more desirable reforms could be brought about by an honest and intelligent absolutism than through loose and premature experiments in constitutional or legislative government.

While came to America this year seeing there was a middle class in his country, and that, without a bridge between the corrupt, arrogant aristocracy and the ignorant, scattered and inert peasantry, constitutional government would be a failure.

He went back to find that organized labor, working under the advice of experienced labor leaders from other European countries, notably Germany, had taken the places of the old conception of a middle class.

The most powerful despotism in the world, with more than a million armed men at its command, has crumbled in the presence of a comparatively peaceful strike of the factory and railroad employees, led in many instances by young students.

The unchangeable guarantee of freedom of conscience, read in the light of Witte's written plea for "equality before the laws of all Russia, without distinction of race or religion"—a document the Czar inscribed "To be taken for a guide"—not only removes the cruel and unjust disabilities of the 7,000,000 Russian Jews, but paralyzes the political power of the Holy Orthodox Church, that terrible and relentless system which has thus far prevented the education of the Russian masses.

No one who has lived in Russia can doubt that with the disappearance of the exclusive mediocrity prerogatives of the Orthodox Church—to possess a right to be elected in which was a grave crime the mightiest bulwark of oppression falls.

This, and clear the way for a genuine free public school system and compulsory education.

The election of a Russian Parliament with real legislative rather than advisory powers—a body with out whose consent no law can be enforced in the empire—against its supreme value in the fact that virtually universal suffrage has been allowed.

To appreciate the difference between the new scheme of representative government and the advisory provided for in the imperial manifesto of August it is only necessary to recall the fact that under the plan by which the Duma was to be elected S. P. Petrushevich, with 1,500,000 inhabitants would have only 950 voters, including 137 Jews, and Moscow, with more than 2,000,000 inhabitants, would have only 11,000 voters. It was recorded that in rural communities the 90,000,000 peasants should have altogether 2,500 votes, as against 1,702 of the landed proprietors and 1,334 of the municipal council.

With the extension of the right to vote to the masses of Russia one gets an idea of the proportions of the Czar's surrender expressed in "an unchangeable rule that no law shall be enforceable without the approval of the State Duma."

Up to this time the sole legislative and executive power has been the personal will of the Czar. Henceforth he can not enforce a single decree without the consent of his people.

The guarantee of the right of the peasantry and involuntarily of the person's sweeps away at a single stroke the dreadful system of secret arrest, secret trial and secret deportation. It robs the Minister of the Interior and his police of their terrors.

With free speech and the right of association and union, political parties may be formed and the influence of Russia worked out in the open.

Nothing is said about trial by jury, but the new Parliament will have power to provide for that.

Hitherto there has been no Cabinet, no Ministerial responsibility. The absolute Czar dealt with his Ministers separately. The particular Minister who happened to be in ascendancy over his sovereign's mind became for the time the ruler. He could interfere with and control any or all departments of the Government. Sometimes it was the Minister of Finance who ruled, sometimes the Minister of War. The Ministers plotted against each other. They seldom worked together.

The new Cabinet must work in accord with the Prime Minister, Count Witte, and the people of Russia, through their Parliament, will probably be able, as in Great Britain, to compel their sovereign to dismiss his Ministers by simply refusing their assent to revenue-raising or equally important laws.

No doubt one of the first steps to be taken by the new Parliament will be the abolition of the dvornik system, that miniature and grading arrangement under which every household in Russia, rich or poor, must accept the presence of a dvornik, or spy, residing in the police for a full account of the daily life, the conversation, opinions and movements of those whom he is set to watch.

Less than a million organized workmen have brought about this great political revolution in modern history. And the only extraordinary thing about it is the demonstrated power of an inferior strike practically disarmed from violence. The Russian soldier, who fired upon rioters only a few months ago could not be trusted to kill a peaceful picket.
